

Reflection

Which existing websites out there most inspired your web site design thus far?

<http://www.cosstores.com/us/#shop>

<http://dougaitkenthesource.com/philippe-pareno>

<http://www.theminimalists.com>

Which parts of the design are you most proud of?

I am not proud of my website so far, what I am proud of that I tried to follow my ideas and realized most of them.

What struggles did you encounter in your design process?

The more I learned the more i struggled. The more I learned the more I learned about my limitations to realize what I could do.

Which struggles did you encounter during page development?

My ambitions are always bigger than my abilities.

What did you learn from making your project responsive?

I can do but I have plenty of room for improvement.

Reviews

In the following is my first impression. Not a deep analysis but I believe the first look decides if the user stays or get lost. So this is my first impression.

Group 1

<https://medium.com/>

Too much information at first glance.

<http://www.sagmeisterwalsh.com/>

Also too overloaded and not clear what this web page is about!

<http://squarespace.com/home/overview/>

Great focus, simple, clearing, elegant!!

<http://www.businessoffashion.com/>

Well structured and simple. Even though a lot of information, but easy to follow.

Group 2

<http://www2.warnerbros.com/spacejam/movie/jam.htm>

Too much color.

<http://cavs.mit.edu/>

Website did not work.

<http://www.spectrumpowderworks.com/>

Nice technique but colors are terrified.

<http://mimarch.net/>

Too much information, too much color, structure very unclear. Not sure what or where I am going with this.